

*Praise for J.D. Beresford's
The Hampdenhire Wonder
(1911):*

A classic of science fiction, The Wonder is the first speculative story about a super human.

The likes of H.G. Wells, Graham Greene and Alistair Cooke praised it highly.

- ◆ H.G. Wells: “a great lark”
- ◆ Walter de la Mare (1948) “well on its way to becoming a classic”
- ◆ Graham Greene: “(it) remains one of the finest and most neglected novels of this period between the great wars.”
- ◆ Lester del Rey: “one of the great classics of science fiction”
- ◆ Rose Macaulay: “That tour de force, The Hampdenhire Wonder.”
- ◆ Alistair Cooke: “I must mention, and recommend,... The Hampdenhire Wonder”

*Praise for J.D. Beresford's
The Hampdenhire Wonder
(1911):*

A classic of science fiction, The Wonder is the first speculative story about a super human.

The likes of H.G. Wells, Graham Greene and Alistair Cooke praised it highly.

- ◆ H.G. Wells: “a great lark”
- ◆ Walter de la Mare (1948) “well on its way to becoming a classic”
- ◆ Graham Greene: “(it) remains one of the finest and most neglected novels of this period between the great wars.”
- ◆ Lester del Rey: “one of the great classics of science fiction”
- ◆ Rose Macaulay: “That tour de force, The Hampdenhire Wonder.”
- ◆ Alistair Cooke: “I must mention, and recommend,... The Hampdenhire Wonder”

*Praise for J.D. Beresford's
The Hampdenhire Wonder
(1911):*

A classic of science fiction, The Wonder is the first speculative story about a super human.

The likes of H.G. Wells, Graham Greene and Alistair Cooke praised it highly.

- ◆ H.G. Wells: “a great lark”
- ◆ Walter de la Mare (1948) “well on its way to becoming a classic”
- ◆ Graham Greene: “(it) remains one of the finest and most neglected novels of this period between the great wars.”
- ◆ Lester del Rey: “one of the great classics of science fiction”
- ◆ Rose Macaulay: “That tour de force, The Hampdenhire Wonder.”
- ◆ Alistair Cooke: “I must mention, and recommend,... The Hampdenhire Wonder”

An ambitious journalist saves from drowning an uncannily precocious child who overturns everything he thought he knew about the world ... and himself.

Praise for George M. Johnson's screenplay, The Wonder:

- ◆ Roy Vizer, professional script reader (royvizercreative.com): "The Script manages to allow the audience to act as a detective in the story in a way that echoes Hitchcock and yet is distinctive on its own.... The mystery surrounding Victor's death is fantastic.... The Wonder is a well-sculpted script that creates characters and themes that will resonate with an audience looking for a cerebral and mystifying cinematic experience."
- ◆ Finalist, British Independent Film Festival Competition. Festival Coordinator, Gabby Hermon, wrote, "We really enjoyed The Wonder and were impressed with the high quality throughout and the creativity shown in creating such a film."
- ◆ One of eight semi-finalists, First Glance Screenplay Competition: "High level of writing. Excellent story telling." Recommended: 97/100.

Contact:

Dr. George M. Johnson
gjohnson@tru.ca
Tel: 250-579-8655 (Canada)
www.georgemjohnson.com

An ambitious journalist saves from drowning an uncannily precocious child who overturns everything he thought he knew about the world ... and himself.

Praise for George M. Johnson's screenplay, The Wonder:

- ◆ Roy Vizer, professional script reader (royvizercreative.com): "The Script manages to allow the audience to act as a detective in the story in a way that echoes Hitchcock and yet is distinctive on its own.... The mystery surrounding Victor's death is fantastic.... The Wonder is a well-sculpted script that creates characters and themes that will resonate with an audience looking for a cerebral and mystifying cinematic experience."
- ◆ Finalist, British Independent Film Festival Competition. Festival Coordinator, Gabby Hermon, wrote, "We really enjoyed The Wonder and were impressed with the high quality throughout and the creativity shown in creating such a film."
- ◆ One of eight semi-finalists, First Glance Screenplay Competition: "High level of writing. Excellent story telling." Recommended: 97/100.

Contact:

Dr. George M. Johnson
gjohnson@tru.ca
Tel: 250-579-8655 (Canada)
www.georgemjohnson.com

An ambitious journalist saves from drowning an uncannily precocious child who overturns everything he thought he knew about the world ... and himself.

Praise for George M. Johnson's screenplay, The Wonder:

- ◆ Roy Vizer, professional script reader (royvizercreative.com): "The Script manages to allow the audience to act as a detective in the story in a way that echoes Hitchcock and yet is distinctive on its own.... The mystery surrounding Victor's death is fantastic.... The Wonder is a well-sculpted script that creates characters and themes that will resonate with an audience looking for a cerebral and mystifying cinematic experience."
- ◆ Finalist, British Independent Film Festival Competition. Festival Coordinator, Gabby Hermon, wrote, "We really enjoyed The Wonder and were impressed with the high quality throughout and the creativity shown in creating such a film."
- ◆ One of eight semi-finalists, First Glance Screenplay Competition: "High level of writing. Excellent story telling." Recommended: 97/100.

Contact:

Dr. George M. Johnson
gjohnson@tru.ca
Tel: 250-579-8655 (Canada)
www.georgemjohnson.com